

Brain Waves Wholesale and Retail

By H. G. HEATH

(A Column of Interest to Wholesale and Retail Dealers of the Trade)

THIS month we take the pleasure of introducing on these pages two well known people to the trade. The large picture on the bottom of this page shows one of the most popular dog food representatives and live wires that we know of—Harry M. Park, representative of the Kennel Food Supply Co., makers of Cero-Meato Dog Foods. Harry is shown in his office with his father, Mr. Park, Sr., who is in partnership with Harry. Besides handling Cero-Meato Harry has made a name for himself with "JUSTRITE" Bird Products, a product too well known to need introduction. We take great pleasure in introducing Harry Parks to the readers of this page. Harry has been one of my chief competitors out here for several years and I am glad to hand it to him by saying I do not know of a harder worker, a cleaner competitor, never knocks, always ready to boost, in other words I am glad to say "meet my friend, Harry Parks."

The picture on the next page is of R. H. "Bob" Peddycord, well known to the trade of Southern California, the owner of "PEDDYCORDS PET & SEED STORE," 1218 E. Colorado, Pasadena. Bob Peddycord was born in Spokane, has lived and operated Peddycords Ltd., for the last seven years in Pasadena. Bob has created a unique store, with a complete water garden well worth seeing, one of the nicest pet stores that can be seen anywhere. Bob says his store has been built on his slogan "QUALITY FIRST," and is always glad to have the dog fanciers drop in and see his complete line of dog supplies.

One of the most outstanding windows in the trade has been recently installed by Seymour B. Thompson, owner of the Glendale Bird & Seed Co., in Glendale. A miniature lake, rockery and waterfall illuminated with colored lights in the evening is a most attractive window and quite an original idea. The next time you are driving through Glendale take the time to notice this unusual window situated on the corner of Maryland and Wilson Sts.

The Beverley Hills Seed & Pet Store moved this month to their new store on Santa Monica Blvd. Rapid expansion forced them to move into new and larger quarters. Dog fanciers in Beverley Hills all know George Stover and Tom Peterson, two regular fellows, whom it is a pleasure to meet.

Mr. N. J. Thomas of the Granite Grain & Feed Co., of Salt Lake City, Utah, called in to see us last week. Mr. Thomas was one of the pigeon judges at the Los Angeles Fair, he was also an interested visitor at several of the local seed stores. While here, Mr. Thomas made such a successful job of his judging that he is invited to perform likewise at the big fall show in Los Angeles.

One of the best and biggest displays of wild animals I have seen for a long time in a pet store is out at Cullens Petland, San Bernadino. Last week Bill had on display, ten breeds of dogs, monkeys, squirrels, all kinds of varieties of bantams and pigeons, an owl, a porcupine, and many other interesting animals. I always enjoy a visit to Cullens, Bill being one of those cheerful souls who always greet salesmen with a handshake and a glad smile.

We were glad to see the appointment of Dr. F. E. Williams to the position of Humane Commissioner for the City of Los Angeles. He should prove very successful as he is thoroughly conversant with this position and very popular.

Pasadena fights on Thursday night seem almost like a dog show. Last night we saw the following prominent dog fanciers present: Freeman Ford, Dr. F. P. Miller, Frank F. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Shute, D. W. Buttles, Jim Young and Percy Willets. If Jack Bradshaw had been there we'd have sworn it was going to be a dog show instead of a fight.

Carl Spitz and Earl Johnson of the Hollywood Dog Training School tell this and claim it to be true. I saw the wreck anyway. Driving to Ventura Show a Mexican in a flivver hit them broadside, knocking the wheel off their car and sending the Mexican clean through the windshield. When the Mexican picked himself up he hadn't even a scratch on him, and he told them that before the collision he had a severe headache which caused him to run into them but that the smash had made it better. It must be great to be tough like that.

Our dog says a cat has no need to boast because it has nine lives,—a frog croaks every day.

We do not often have a chance to write about our own dogs, but I had an experience this afternoon which shows you how true a friend you have in your dog. Standing in front of the store, when a slight acquaintance walked up behind me and hit me a wallop on the back which nearly knocked my teeth out, at the same time letting forth a greeting, like a flash of lightning as fast as he did it, my Irish Terrier, which was standing beside me, flew at him and tore his coat near the neck, scaring him very badly. It cured one wisecracker of a backpounding habit. Just goes to show you cannot wish for a better and truer friend than your dog.

R. H. "Bob" Peddycord

FRENCH BULLDOG NOTES

Bulldog. Besides, he has a singular grotesque appearance; something different from all other dogs, something new. He looks dangerous but isn't. He has a serious expression, but laughs with all his body and is always gay. He is a clown under the robe of a philosopher, always ready for tricks and yet full of dignity while at rest. Made of contrasts, yet full of gravity. He accepts immobility. Quiet in his basket, he does not lose a word of the conversation. He is indeed most desirable, and in him are combined all the virtues of a house dog."

Mrs. Marie Bellz reports a very fine litter of three males and four females out of her Boubette, sired by Adamson's Sikdar Rival.

From Mrs. Lois Bryan's Kennels comes word that Suzette of Berbay whelped a litter of two, one male and one female by Mr. and Mrs. Browning's Snocke; also Pierrot, another Berbay bitch has been bred to Ch. Sans Prix and that Lady Li has been bred to Parsque's Cyclone. Best of luck to Mrs. Bryan, may she get a couple of fliers from these breedings.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ormes have bred their fawn bitch Fawn Ette back to her sire Colonel Theodore. They are in hopes of getting a white puppy from this mating.

Mrs. Armanda R. Preston has returned from the East without anything new. Was in hopes that she would bring out a few good ones from the East. Mrs. Preston reports that she has shipped her good white bitch, Walsh's Jewel, back East to be bred to her sire Gamin's Yocko. Some more white puppies looked for.

Mrs. A. J. Denman will bring out a very promising puppy at the next show. Just past six months, this little fellow will make some of the older ones step some. He is out of Kia Ora D'sued by Colonel Theodore.

The writer has two very beautiful white puppies out of Ehlers' Fawnette sired by Parsque's Cyclone. This is Cy's first mating and he has proved that he is able to transmit to his outstanding feature "Substance." These puppies are now three months old. Just as soon as they are old enough they will grace the bench. The dam of these puppies, Fawnette, has recently been purchased by Mr. L. Bastin de Renne.

Mrs. J. W. Porter of Hawthorne reports two litters. One out of Shirley, sired by Woo's Peter Pan, consists of two males and two females. The other litter is out of Liberty Girl, sired by Snell's Athos. There are two in this litter, one of each sex. Mrs. Porter will keep one male for herself. The two females in Shirley's litter at the age of six months are already sold.

While on our vacation last month up into Canada, we visited Mrs. J. Larson at Everett, Washington. Saw two very promising five months old female puppies there; also met Vancouver's oldest Frenchie breeder, Miss Leigh Spencer, 72 years of age and still active in breeding and exhibiting. She tells with much pride how she won the special for best handler competing against twenty-seven handlers at the last Vancouver show. I wonder how many of us at the age of seventy-two will still be active in the dog game?
